A photograph holds the day still.
A film hands it back to you moving the vows in his voice, the way she walked in,
the sound of the room when you kissed.

RICARDO VALERO · WEDDING FILMS · LOS CABOS

I film weddings in Los Cabos. The church in San José, gardens inland, terraces above the water, and dance floors that do not empty until the lights come up. I shoot and I edit, and no frame leaves my desk that I did not colour myself.

A wedding film is not a longer version of the photographs. It is the only record that keeps sound – the vows, the toast that made your mother cry, the song that filled the floor at one in the morning. My job is to stand close enough to catch it and far enough back that you forget I am there. I will not step in front of your photographer, and I will not ask you to do anything twice.

Sound decides everything. Lavalier and board audio on every wedding, because a beautiful shot with bad sound is a beautiful shot nobody watches twice.

Baja is home, so I know the drive times, the wind at four in the afternoon, and which venues will let a drone up. If your wedding is somewhere else, fly me there.

WHERE I FILM

San José del Cabo · Cabo San Lucas · East Cape · Todos Santos · La Paz · Anywhere you fly me

I work in English and Spanish, and I am used to planners, coordinators and photographers. I stay out of their frame and they stay out of mine.

In ten years you will have forgotten the flowers.
You will not have forgotten the sound of the room.

The Teaser

3 TO 5 DAYS AFTER THE WEDDING

You will want to show someone before the sunburn fades. Sixty to ninety seconds, cut for the phone, out while your guests are still flying home. It does not tell the whole day – it makes everyone ask to see the rest.

The Ceremony

ONE MONTH AFTER THE WEDDING

From the getting ready to the last word of the vows. Eight to twelve minutes, built on real sound rather than a licensed track. This is the one your family watches together and your friends share.

The Party

TWO MONTHS AFTER THE WEDDING

The knot is tied and the floor fills. The entrance, the speeches, the band, the shoes coming off, the people who stayed until the lights came up. Loud on purpose.

The Full Film

THREE MONTHS AFTER THE WEDDING

The whole day, in order, from the first look to the last song. The ceremony and the party in one piece, plus everything that did not fit in either – the drive over, the toast that ran long, the quiet minute before the doors opened.

How the Day Works

NOTHING HERE IS AN UPSELL

01

THE CALL

Three weeks out we go through the timeline, the venue and the people who matter – the grandmother who flew in, the friend who is giving the speech, the song you want under the first dance.

02

THE DAY

I arrive at getting ready and I stay until the end of the hours you booked. One camera, one operator, nobody you did not meet, and no equipment anywhere near your aisle.

03

SOUND

Lavalier on the officiant and a feed from the board, so the vows and the speeches come back as sound you can actually hear.

04

THE EDIT

I cut and color every frame myself. You get one round of notes on the ceremony film – most couples do not use it, but it is yours.
